ICCW Submits Testimony to Committee on State Employee Compensation, February 8, 1990

ICCW is currently participating in the State Pay Plan Compensation Committee's process of identifying problems and solutions. Chair Pat Gaydos presented the following testimony at the public hearing in Helena on February 8, 1990.

"...The current statewide pay matrix was designed to compensate employees based on job content and experience. Annual cost of living increases were intended to provide compensation that would allow employees to keep up with inflationary costs. Since the longevity allowance is insubstantial, annual step increases are frozen, and cost of living salary adjustments have not kept up with inflation, the pay plan is no longer adequate.

Compensation for state workers is not commensurate with the salaries earned by surrounding states' public employees, or with Montana's private sector. Recent legislatures, strapped for cash, have failed to provide pay increases that kept up with the cost of living. Across-the-board percentage budget cuts have cut agency staffs to the bone, and

...employees who remain committed to public service continue to lose ground financially.

"vacancy savings" and layoffs have increased the workload for many state employees without corresponding increases in compensation. As a result of these factors, experienced employees are lured away by employers who offer better compensation. Meanwhile, equally valuable employees who remain committed to public service continue to lose ground financially. Employees in lower-paid positions, where women employees are heavily concentrated, are especially hard hit. In addition, employees who have reached the final step of their grade level will see no increase in their salaries unless they receive a grade promotion. Even then, employees who get a promotion that results in a 15-percent or more pay increase are penalized by losing steps. The statewide pay plan is clearly due for a major overhaul.

The ICCW believes state employee benefits are adequate for the most part. While increased benefits are no substitute for a fair and improved pay plan, we encourage the Committee to give due consideration to alternative ideas such as cafeteria-style benefits, paternity leave or training programs. We also encourage the Committee to recommend that state government strive for consistency in the application of policy guidelines among all agencies.

The public perception state employees constantly battle is that state employees are overpaid and underworked. Rather than setting one day aside for employee recognition, a consistent message needs to be taken to communities throughout Montana that our public servants and the work they do are valued and appreciated. ICCW is also concerned that setting aside a day for employee recognition could turn the focus away from the issue of adequate compensation for state employees. We look instead to recognition from the Governor and Legislature that we labor at jobs deemed necessary by them to serve the people of this state in a myriad of ways. As long as the services we provide are determined to be necessary, the State should meet its responsibility to adequately compensate the people it hires to carry out the duties of state government....

...increased benefits are no substitute for a fair and improved pay plan...

We are hopeful this Committee will develop constructive recommendations that will begin to remedy the many problems of state employee compensation, and we look forward to participating in forthcoming sessions where solutions will be proposed and evaluated. Thank you."

Governor Re-establishes the ICCW

The new Executive Order was updated and revised to provide a more accurate and positive description of ICCW's purpose. By incorporating ICCW's new goal statement, "to promote the full participation of women at all levels of state government", the revised order better defines the purpose of ICCW.

Executive Order

WHEREAS, the Constitution of the State of Montana prohibits the State or any person from discriminating against any person in the exercise of his or her civil rights on the account of sex; and

WHEREAS, I am committed to bringing about full and equal employment opportunity for all Montanans; and

WHEREAS, equal employment opportunity begins in state government; and

WHEREAS, the State's Equal Employment Opportunity report of 1988 demonstrates that women continue to be heavily concentrated in lower-paying, non-management and non-policy making positions; and

WHEREAS, the State's Equal Employment Opportunity report of 1988 also shows that some progress has been made toward women moving into management jobs, women remain concentrated at the low end of professional and managerial positions; and

WHEREAS, the ICCW has been effectively utilized in the past to identify problems of women state employees; and

WHEREAS, the goal of the ICCW is to promote the full participation of women at all levels of state government.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, STAN STEPHENS, by the authority vested in me by Article VI, Section 4 of the Montana Constitution, and Section 2-15-201, MCA, do hereby:

1. Re-establish the Interdepartmental Coordinating Committee for Women.
2. Instruct each department director as follows:
 - A. To call for volunteers from your department who would be willing to serve on the ICCW; and
 - B. To select a department representative and an alternate with whom you can effectively work to implement ICCW's recommendations; and
 - C. To notify Marilyn Miller, my liaison to the ICCW, by no later than April 1, 1990, of your designated representative and alternate to the ICCW.

This order is effective immediately.

GIVEN under my hand and the GREAT SEAL of the State of Montana, this 28th day of February, in the year of our LORD, One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Ninety.

ICCW's 1989 Legislative Involvement

ICCW spent considerable time and effort during the 1989 Session to influence the outcome of legislation affecting women and men in state government. Members testified before the legislature, prepared position papers and furnished information to the Governor upon request. The "Brown Bag Lunch" series was an especially significant accomplishment.

The ICCW-sponsored "Brown Bag Lunch" series informed state employees on how the legislative system works, how they could get involved, and about issues important to state employees. Topics covered included: How a Bill is Passed; Lobbying Your Legislature; Retirement Legislation; the Pay Plan; and Child Care Legislation.

At the request of the Governor, ICCW prepared a position paper on HB 234 which increases member and employer contributions to the Public Employee's Retirement System and revises the formula for calculating service and non duty-related disability retirement allowances under the retirement system. HB 234 was passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Stephens.

ICCW supported child care legislation. We testified for HB 285 which allows employer tax credits for child care. This bill was passed and signed by the Governor. ICCW also supported HB 200; however, at the Governor's request, we did not testify before a subcommittee on this bill. We did lobby the Governor through Steve Yeakel and provided pertinent information, such as the child care report prepared by ICCW in September 1988. HB 200 as passed provides for a state program for the improvement of child care, provides for child care assistance and creates a Child Care Advisory Council.

Testimony was prepared and presented to the legislature on House Bill (HB) 700 — Veterans Preference. ICCW supported the Veterans and Handicapped Person's Preference Act of 1984 but, during the 1987 Session, opposed HB 700. As proposed, that bill unreasonably broadened the definition of those eligible for preference, applied a preference to all appointments to positions, and gave preference to veterans and eligible relatives during reductions in force. The bill did pass but was limited to initial hire and reduction in force; promotion was excluded. It also included Governor Stephens' recommendation that a "sunset" provision be incorporated so the law will expire in 1991.

The 1991 Legislative Session promises to be an important session for issues affecting women in state government. ICCW looks forward to participating in the coming session.

Is Your Agency Represented?

ICCW members from most state agencies meet monthly to discuss issues that affect women in state government. However, the following agencies are not represented:

- Legislative Council
- Department of Justice

Participation is the key to identifying the restraints that limit the participation of women in state government. If your agency is not currently represented, you might consider serving either as a representative or an alternate. ICCW would also be very interested to hear about any issues you believe are important. Call any of the members listed under the various subcommittees on pages 5 and 6 for more information on ICCW or to express concerns you would like to see addressed.

ICCW has made a difference, and so can you.

ICCW Wants Your Input

ICCW wants to know what issues you think will be important to women in state government over the next few years. The information gathered will be used to develop ICCW's agenda for the 1991 Legislature and to shape our 1990-91 subcommittees.

Please take a few minutes to complete the form below and return to ICCW by May 1, 1990. Return forms by deadhead mail to:

ICCW Goal, Objectives and Priorities for 1989-1990

At the ICCW's September 1989 meeting, representatives discussed issues important in the coming year and assigned priorities to the objectives developed. Objectives were assigned to working subcommittees as indicated below.

GOAL

To promote the full participation of women at all levels of state government.

OBJECTIVES/TASKS

- A. SET AND MAINTAIN A CLEAR COURSE OF ACTION FOR ICCW. (Planning Subcommittee)
 - 1. Develop annual goals and objectives for the Interdepartmental Coordinating Committee for Women (ICCW).
 - 2. Identify areas of concern to women state employees.
 - 3. Monitor and record activities and achievements of ICCW.
 - 4. Provide information to members about ICCW's responsibilities.
 - 5. Provide orientation for new members.
 - 6. Encourage active participation of new and existing members.

- B. IMPROVE ICCW'S REPRESENTATION AND COMMUNICATION. (Communications Subcommittee)
 - 1. Identify techniques for communicating ICCW information to state employees: prepare and distribute two newsletters per year.
 - 2. Develop and maintain a network with other organizations concerned with employment issues affecting women.
 - 3. Identify agencies in state government (legislative, executive and judicial) that do not have ICCW representation; encourage appointments.

- C. ADVOCATE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY. (EEO Subcommittee)
 - 1. Review and respond to Department of Administration (DOA) draft personnel policies.
 - 2. Recommend changes to existing state policies and procedures that improve opportunities available to women employees in state government.
 - 3. Participate on committees that address employment issues that affect women.
 - 4. Evaluate affirmative action plans and identify areas of concern.
 - 5. Propose new policies and procedures that improve opportunities available to women employees in state government.
 - 6. Identify a pool of qualified women to serve on boards (in response to resolution HJR 28 of the 1989 legislature which urged, "...that all appointive boards, commissions, committees, and councils of the state be gender-balanced.").

- D. MONITOR STATE EMPLOYEES' BENEFITS AND RESPOND WHEN PROPOSED CHANGES COULD AFFECT WOMEN IN STATE GOVERNMENT. (Benefits and Child Care Subcommittee)
 - 1. Review and provide comments on proposed changes in benefits.
 - 2. Participate on committees that address state employees' benefit issues.

- E. PROMOTE TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES FOR WOMEN EMPLOYEES. (Training Subcommittee)
 - 1. Sponsor training programs and promote participation in ICCW-sponsored and other training opportunities.
 - 2. Evaluate current personnel policy for state sponsored or subsidized education and training.
 - 3. Identify training and adult/continuing education programs statewide which promote the advancement of women in the workplace.

F. MONITOR CHILD CARE ISSUES AND RESPOND WHEN ISSUES WILL AFFECT WOMEN IN STATE GOVERNMENT. (Benefits and Child Care Subcommittee)

1. Participate on and act as a resource to the Child Care Advisory Council.

G. ADDRESS LEGISLATION THAT COULD AFFECT WOMEN EMPLOYEES. (Planning Subcommittee)

1. Provide follow-up on the 1989 Session to ICCW membership.
2. Prepare for 1991 Session.

ICCW members, if you are not signed up for a subcommittee, the benefits and training subcommittees could use more assistance.

Jeanne Doney Resigns

Long-time ICCW member Jeanne Doney has resigned due to other demands on her time. Jeanne served as chair in 1988-89 and, for much of the past nine years, was either representative or alternate for the Department of Natural Resources and Conservation. During the 1989 Session, she played a major role in the successful passage of comprehensive child care legislation.

Over the years, Jeanne has seen many changes in ICCW, most notably the group's increased participation in the legislative process and a growing independence from the Governor's Office. She attributes much of her success in state government to the communication skills she acquired through her ICCW experience. In looking toward the future, Jeanne hopes that "ICCW will continue to build its knowledge base as a source of strength, and continue to exercise influence on current issues affecting women in state government."

Good luck in your future endeavors, Jeanne.

Mountain View School Appeals for Big Sisters

The Mountain View School Big Sister Program involves women from the Helena community relating on a one-to-one basis with residents of the institution. The rewards may be great or little, but Big Sisters give a little of themselves so that Mountain View's young ladies have an opportunity to see how someone can have a positive relationship with another individual. Big Sisters are also instrumental in assisting residents transition back into the community by providing opportunities to go off campus and have positive community exposure.

Those who volunteer for the program go to Mountain View where they tour the facility, fill out an application and provide character references. Matches are made by looking at how much time the Big Sister has available, her interests and dislikes, the needs of residents and their particular personalities.

If you are interested in finding out more about the program, please call Nola Torgeson at 458-9016.

"...The current statewide pay matrix was designed to compensate employees based on job content and experience. Annual cost of living increases were intended to provide compensation that would allow employees to keep up with inflationary costs. states' public employees, or with Montana's private sector. Recent legislatures, strapped for cash, have failed to provide pay increases that kept up with the cost of living. Across-the-board percentage budget cuts have cut agency staffs to the bone, and

"vacancy savings" and layoffs have increased the workload for many state employees without corresponding increases in compensation. As a result of these factors, experienced employees are lured away by employers who offer better compensation. Meanwhile, equally valuable employees who remain committed to public service continue to lose ground financially. Employees in lower-paid positions, where women employees are heavily concentrated, are especially hard hit. In addition, employees who have reached the final step of their grade level will see no increase in their salaries unless they receive a grade promotion. Even then, employees who get a promotion that results in a 15-percent or more pay increase are penalized by losing steps. The statewide pay plan is clearly due for a major overhaul.

ICCW members, if you are not signed up for a subcommittee, the benefits and training subcommittees could use more assistance.

Jeanne Doney Resigns

Long-time ICCW member Jeanne Doney has resigned due to other demands on her time. Jeanne served as chair in 1988-89 and, for much of the past nine years, was either representative or alternate for the Department of Natural Resources and Conservation. During the 1989 Session, she played a major role in the successful passage of comprehensive child care legislation.

Over the years, Jeanne has seen many changes in ICCW, most notably the group's increased participation in the legislative process and a growing independence from the Governor's Office. She attributes much of her success in state government to the communication skills she acquired through her ICCW experience. In looking toward the future, Jeanne hopes that "ICCW will continue to build its knowledge base as a source of strength, and continue to exercise influence on current issues affecting women in state government."

Good luck in your future endeavors, Jeanne.

Mountain View School Appeals for Big Sisters

The Mountain View School Big Sister Program involves women from the Helena community relating on a one-to-one basis with residents of the institution. The rewards may be great or little, but Big Sisters give a little of themselves so that Mountain View's young ladies have an opportunity to see how someone can have a positive relationship with another individual. Big Sisters are also instrumental in assisting residents transition back into the community by providing opportunities to go off campus and have positive community exposure.

Those who volunteer for the program go to Mountain View where they tour the facility, fill out an application and provide character references. Matches are made by looking at how much time the Big Sister has available, her interests and dislikes, the needs of residents and their particular personalities.

If you are interested in finding out more about the program, please call Nola Torgeson at 458-9016.
